ADMINISTRATION OFFICIALS
ENCOURAGED BY UNOFFICIAL ACCOUNTS OF GERMAN
MANY'S ATTITUDE.

BERLIN PRESS DIVIDED

Newspapers Criticize Germany's Willingness to Follow International Rules—Claim It Will End Submarine Warfare.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, March 3.—Administration officials were encouraged today by the unofficial accounts of the German note, and while unofficial reports from London on Great Britain's attitude on the same subject have so far been indefinite, officials here take the view that the German note may have some influence upon it.

They hold to the view that the position of the United States is absolutely in accord with international law, although they realize that Great Britain has taken a very advanced stand in her latest note.

Representative Metz, who is in communication with the uses of dyestuffs in the United States, said at the White House today that there was practically no supply of dye stuff in the United States at present, and only a few days' supply in prospect. American textile mills are practically dependent upon German dyestuffs.

Criticizes German Answer.

Berlin, via London, March 3.—Count Von Reventlow, a writer on naval subjects, has an article in today's Tageszeitung in which he expresses his thorough displeasure both with the American note to Germany, concerning the naval war zone and the submarine blockade of the British Isles, and the German answer to this communication. In this German substantially agreed to accept many of the informal suggestions of the United States made with the idea of bettering the situation arising from the carrying out of the German blockade and the British retaliatory measures, provided Great Britain yield on her side in certain directions, particularly in the matter of food supplies to Germany. This American note was delivered to the German foreign office by Ambassador Gerard the evening of February 22, and the German answer was transmitted to Washington several days ago.

Alone in Opposition.
In his attitude of opposition this writer is almost alone among German commentators. The Post being the only other paper disposed to express dissatisfaction with the German answer.

Count Reventlow says the American proposals would have the effect of making Germany's submarine warfare impossible, and Germany's answer gives heed to this demand.

Concerning Germany's war zone, Count Reventlow says the American proposals would have the effect of making Germany's submarine warfare impossible, and Germany's answer gives heed to this demand.

Hurts Submarine Warfare.
Count Von Reventlow says that the American proposals would have the effect of making Germany's submarine warfare impossible, and Germany's answer gives heed to this demand.

Note Creates Suspicion.
The Post declares the fact that the United States alleged that its proposals were based on upright friendship and the interests of humanity was enough to "make one suspicious of the start."

The American proposals have been dictated solely by American business interests, this paper says. If Germany agreed to the proposals she would keep peace with England and would not, and the result would hamper Germany's warfare. Hence the German answer was not satisfactory.

Captain Persius, another writer on naval matters, even in Great Britain, promised to stop the use of false flags there could be no certainty she would keep her promise. Germany would be the loser in any event.

No Quarter to British.
The Morgen Post says the American note is couched in gratifying terms and shows more respect for existing conditions than did the first communication from Washington. Taken as a whole the American proposals throughout are worthy of consideration, this paper says.

Amsterdam, March 3.—The Cologne Gazette commenting on Premier A. J. Thys' recent speech in the house of deputies, has outlined Great Britain's retaliatory measure for Germany's submarine blockade of the British Isles, says: "Our submarines will now, we hope, endeavor to destroy all goods destined for Great Britain. Great Britain wishes war to the knife; she shall have it."

War News Summary.

An Austro-German submarine squadron consisting of six submarines and a number of torpedo boats, has left the Austrian naval base of Pola on the Adriatic, presumably to strike at the Anglo-French fleet at the Dardanelles. Athens dispatches state that nine battleships of the allied fleet have advanced to the narrowest part of the Dardanelles, bombarding Turkish fortifications and landing a force which scattered a Turkish garrison. It is probable, however, that these dispatches refer to heavy operations on Monday attack on the Dardanelles was interrupted by storm, as announced by the British admiralty.

Newly continued military preparations, having taken up in parliament legislation for increasing the strength of the army. The minister of war announced that all classes were asking to enter the army.

A German correspondent on the Galician front telegraphs to Berlin that the Russians have not won a single complete success in their efforts to regain the lost positions on the eastern front. The fighting continues in the snow. The Russians are making desperate efforts to ward off the danger of an encircling movement.

German opinion as reflected in the Berlin press is divided in regard to the American note to Germany and Great Britain. Some newspapers take the view of the government that the note is an indication of the disinterested friendliness of this country. Other commentators, however, suggest that the note was inspired by regard for American business interests.

GERMAN PRISONERS ON WAY BACK HOME

Trainload of Wounded Soldiers From French Camps Pass Through Switzerland, Homeward Bound.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Geneva, via Paris, March 3.—The first trainload of maimed German prisoners of war who are to be exchanged for wounded French soldiers arrived here from Lyons, homeward bound, at 9:15 last night. The special glided slowly into the station between lines of Swiss troops. The cars were immediately boarded by red cross nurses in their uniforms of white with distributed gifts of oranges and other delicacies among the men, relieving their French co-workers of the responsibility of carrying for the passengers.

Swiss government physicians went rapidly through the trains, but found that none of the 240 Germans aboard required medical attention. All of them seemed cheerful and contented. They were distributed gifts of oranges and other delicacies among the men, relieving their French co-workers of the responsibility of carrying for the passengers.

Most of them were smoking cigarettes and were making the best of the situation. They were distributed gifts of oranges and other delicacies among the men, relieving their French co-workers of the responsibility of carrying for the passengers.

FORCED STEAMER TO FLY BRITISH FLAG

Boat's Captain Tells of High Handed
Method Used in Converting German Craft.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, March 3.—The British steamer St. Helena, carrying supplies from Gibraltar, reached here today from Gibraltar with a tale of her conversion from the German to British flag, on the first day of the war while she was on her maiden voyage.

For a few weeks the vessel was a German steamer, Schnepf, 3,837 tons net, brand new and bound from Calcutta to Boston with produce from the East Indies. She steamed from Calcutta to the Straits of Gibraltar. A British torpedo boat ran close in, hailed the German vessel, and ordered the captain to bear up for Gibraltar. To blaze with the flag, the captain shouted back, "I'm going to Boston." The torpedo boat's guns were trained on the ship. A threat to open fire caused the Schnepf's captain to obey the order. The Schnepf was ordered sold by a prize court.

British Supply Steamer Carrying Relief to Belgians Is Aground,
But In No Danger.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Norfolk, Va., March 3.—The British steamer St. Helena, carrying supplies from Charleston, S. C., to Rotterdam, for Belgian relief, is ashore off Currituck life saving station, on the North Carolina coast, according to advices received here today.

The St. Helena, a 2,708-ton vessel, left Charleston Feb. 28 with a cargo of 7,000 tons of food and clothing, the gift of citizens of North and South Carolina and Georgia.

VON DER GOLTZ DIRECTS TURK DEFENSE OF CONSTANTINOPLE

British dreadnought Agamemnon, which is taking active part in Dardanelles fighting; high wall defending Constantinople; General von der Goltz.

Field Marshal von der Goltz, one of the ablest generals in the German army, is in Constantinople directing the defense of the city. The Turkish people, ignorant of present-day methods of warfare, think that the break through Dardanelles, will afford some protection in case the allied fleets now in the Dardanelles is the British dreadnought Agamemnon. According to dispatches it played an important part in the shelling of Dardanelles forts.

RIVER AND HARBOR BILL PASSES AFTER ALL NIGHT SESSION

Senate Calls Vice-President from Bed at Daybreak to Finish Work on Supply Bill.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, March 3.—The senate passed the river and harbor bill, the last of the big supply bills to come before it, and then recessed until one o'clock.

It was only by taking the unprecedented step of arousing the vice-president, and requesting his attendance that a quorum was obtained to pass the bill. Shortly after four o'clock Senator Oliver raised the point of no quorum in order to get full consideration of an amendment authorizing a new dam in the Pittsburgh harbor.

Only forty-six senators could be found and two more were needed to make a quorum. A motion was made and carried for the issuance of warrants for the arrest of absentees. Senator Bryan temporarily in the chair, declared to sign the warrant on the ground they could be signed only by the vice-president or president or president pro tempore. Senator Clark.

After parliamentary tangle, however, Senator Stone moved that the vice president be requested to attend. This was carried and the vice president was roused from his bed about five o'clock. Just before he arrived, however, Senators Nelson, Page and Dillingham reported and made a quorum. The vice president, however, resumed the chair. The river and harbor bill passed the senate substantially without amendment.

The house debated the river and harbor bill and after some heated debate accepted the senate amendment and sent the measure to the president, adding one more to the list of bills finally disposed of.

The senate agreed to the reports on the legislative bill and the diplomatic and consular appropriation bills putting two more of the principal supply measures out of the way.

SEEKS INDICTMENT OF MEN IN CUSTODY FOR PLACING BOMBS

New York District Attorney Lays Plans to Convict Alleged Anarchists Charged With Plot.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, March 3.—In presenting to the grand jury today the case of Frank Abarno and John Carbone, who are accused of placing bombs in St. Patrick's cathedral yesterday, District Attorney Perkins will ask for their indictment under a section of the penal code designating as a felony the act of persons who attempt to explode explosives in any buildings with intent to destroy, although no damage is done. The penalty upon conviction may be 25 years in state prison.

The arrest of Abarno and Carbone ended a plot, according to police, of which the wrecking of the cathedral was to be only the first of a series of similar explosions directed against the homes of Andrew Carnegie, John D. Rockefeller and other rich men, and extending to the banks.

Indictments Returned.
Two hours after it began consideration of the cases of Frank Abarno and Charles Carbone, the anarchists charged with plotting a dynamite war against churches and men of wealth, the grand jury today returned indictments charging them with placing a lighted bomb in a public place in violation of a penal code. Conviction could mean serving a maximum period of twenty-five years.

Learn of Betrayal.
It was not until today when Abarno and Carbone were brought before the line-up at the police headquarters that the man they had known as Baldo was a detective. Carbone was heard to say, "I should have been careful, and now you see what the truth was."

SENATE CAN HANDLE WATER POWER BILLS MINUS U. W. ADVICE

Decide in Bitter Fight That University Professor's Knowledge on Matter Is Not Desired.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, March 3.—The Wisconsin senate engaged in the bitterest debate thus far this session, when Senator Brax, a resolution inviting Prof. Gilmore of the state university to advise it on waterpower legislation, was pending. The senate refused to adopt it without committee action and referred it to the state affairs committee by a vote of 18 to 12.

A resolution to extend the legislative power of welcome to any member of the university faculty whenever it is held shall be passed, making reference to no party measure, was finally adopted 20 to 10.

The Ackley bill amending the waterpower law was denounced by Senator Brax as one of the most notorious bills before the legislature. A resolution asking congress to pass a bill pending postoffice employees who had served 30 years and reached the age of 70 years, was killed by the assembly.

A bill permitting pupils at school to be absent to attend confirmation classes, was indefinitely postponed. The assembly discussed the Helm bill disfranchising students most of the forenoon and deferred action on it until tonight.

RECESS APPOINTMENT TO U. S. TRADE BOARD

Name Has Not Been Confirmed By Senate and Wilson Announces He Will Place Man Later.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, March 3.—George Rublee of Cornish, N. H., whose nomination to the federal trade commission has not been confirmed by the senate, will get a recess appointment from President Wilson Friday. Administration officials said today they did not expect a confirmation at the present session of the senate.

WILHELMINA HELD TO PRIZE COURT

Council for Shippers Notified English
Consul to Carry Goods Carried
By Vessel.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, March 3.—Norvin R. Lindholm, attorney for the shippers of the cargo of the American steamship Wilhelmina, now detained in London, England, announced today he had received word from his representative abroad that a writ had been issued and served, placing the cargo in a prize court.

ICEBERGS HAVE EXPLODED NUMBER OF GERMAN MINES

London, March 3.—Icebergs have exploded a number of mines in the Gulf of Bothnia, according to reports brought to Hull by Swedish vessels. Navigation is particularly perilous in the Baltic and the North Sea just now, it is said, owing to the mines which have broken loose from their moorings during storms. Scandinavian naval authorities control the trade routes for these floating menaces, some of which have been visible lately as far north as Skagerrak and the mouth of Christiania Fjord.

WANTS ALL EVIDENCE BEFORE COMMISSION PLACED IN RECORDS

Railroad Man Says Biehler Bill Will Remove Cause of Dissatisfaction
With Commission.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 3.—That there is a feeling of distrust and lack of confidence in the railroad commission and its decisions on the part of the public is the declaration of F. W. Walker, of Cedarburg, vice president of the Northern Railway of the Milwaukee company, in a hearing before the senate committee on corporations yesterday afternoon. He appeared before the committee in favor of a bill that would compel the railroad commission to incorporate into its records all evidence aimed to circumvent the decision of the supreme court in the Milwaukee Lakes Ice & Cartage case, where the court held that the commission had the right to consider all evidence on file with the commission, but not introduced at the hearing.

Col. W. J. Anderson, a member of the commission's staff, was called upon and he expressed his belief that if the Biehler bill were acted into law the commission's work would be hampered. He pointed out that if the railroads were dissatisfied now an appeal might be taken to the courts. He said that of the thousands of cases decided in ten years only thirty-three appeals had been taken, and in less than five the decisions given by the courts were adverse to the commission.

Mr. Walker said that no man could be expected to respect a decision contrary to his views, if the decision was reached by the commission through the constitution of persons unknown to him. He believed that all matters should be incorporated into the record and that failure to do so was causing great public dissatisfaction against the commission. That this dissatisfaction exists he declared was evidenced by bills introduced in the legislature to curtail the powers of the railroad commission.

"There has been introduced at the present session of the legislature," declared Mr. Walker, "among others affecting the railroad commission, bills to take away from the commission the power to regulate and control the issuing of securities by public service corporations; to take away from the commission its power to regulate and control street railways and vest this power in municipal authorities. All these are signs of the public dissatisfaction and are losing its confidence in the railroad commission, and should be without delay in a careful and conscientious search for bill causes of same and the devising of means for their removal, unless the policy of regulation by commission is to be abandoned. The method of proceeding with the present tendency of the commission is, in our opinion, one of the principal causes of this public discontent which the Biehler bill will completely remove."

Mr. Walker declared that it was necessary for the commission to use its engineering staff and use it freely, but that after the engineering department had arrived at its findings should be made part of the record. "It will not cripple or hamper the commission in performing its duties," concluded Mr. Walker, "but will strengthen its hands by assisting with the making of the present tendency of the public to lose confidence, but also in restoring the confidence already lost."

DIES AT 99 YEARS; WANTED TO LIVE 100

James A. Rappe, Veteran of Three Wars, Expires Tuesday Morning at Home in Marinette.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Marinette, March 3.—James A. Rappe, veteran of three wars, the Seminole, Mexican and Civil wars failed to achieve his ambition to live one hundred years. He died Tuesday morning, aged 99.

He would have rounded the century mark, had he lived until October 13, next. He was born at Fort Stanwix, New York, and lived in Wisconsin since the civil war.

He had become quite a notable character at G. A. R. encampments. He rode a bicycle to a national encampment at Madison, Wis., and walked to another. He is survived by a widow and several children. He was oldest living Mexican war veteran.

FAVOR JOINT BOARDS TO LOWER EXPENSES

Consolidation of Various State Bodies
Would Eliminate Much Unnecessary Expenditures.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 3.—The consolidation of the state board of health with the state dairy and food department is said to be one of the proposals that is receiving serious consideration from the legislative committee investigating the state departments, boards and commissions. The first session of the committee was held yesterday afternoon, and this is one of the matters that was discussed at that time. It was pointed out that in Milwaukee the city administration has merged the health and dairy and food department under one head.

There seems to be a disposition among many of the members to perpetuate the existence of those departments, like the barbers' board, that are self-supporting. Some of the members of the committee are in favor of placing the state treasury department with the state board of health and of placing the department with the industrial commission.

New Attack of Anglo-French

War News.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Tiflis, via Petrograd and London, March 3.—The Russian army of the Caucasus driving the Turkish forces before it, has reached the river Khopas the estuary of the Tchoruk in Armenia. This advance by the Russians, cuts the route of Turkish reinforcements and supplies from Constantinople to the Caucasian frontier through Turkish Armenia and isolates a large section of Turkish territory.

The isolated section includes the district of Ardahan, Ardahan, Olti, and Sarikamish. The Russian forces advanced from Batumi on the Black Sea, near the Turkish border and were opposed by the Turks at every step. They were assisted by Russian warship which cleared the shore of Turkish forces and cut off successfully several avenues of Turkish communication by sea until only the Kope route remains.

After a battle of three days this last route was closed effectively. Renewed bombardment. Paris, March 3.—The Javias news agency gave out a dispatch this afternoon confirming the statement published in the Paris Matin this morning that an allied fleet resumed the bombardment of the Dardanelles Tuesday morning.

The dispatch which is issued at Athens, March 2, reads: "The bombardment of the interior fortifications of the Dardanelles has resumed this morning. The allies have a total of 62 warships on the scene. Five of them entered the straits. While this movement was going on four battleships began the bombardment of the Turkish positions fronting on the gulf of Saros which is separated from the Dardanelles by the Gallipoli peninsula."

Report from Berlin. Berlin, March 3.—Included in the items given out today by Overseas news agency is the following: "Turkish headquarters reports from Constantinople, under date of March 3, as follows: "The enemy's fleet yesterday unsuccessfully shelled the Dardanelles for a period of 3 hours. This fleet was then forced to retreat by a successful fire of the Turkish batteries. At the same time another fleet consisting of 4 French cruisers and some destroyers shelled the Turkish position on the Gulf of Saros but without any success whatever."

"Turkish aviators successfully bombarded the ships of the enemy." Germanic Allies Lining. London, March 3.—According to what appears to be the almost unanimous opinion of British observers Germany and Austria are playing a losing game along nearly all the eastern front. The situation in the Balkans is particularly unsatisfactory, while the Russians, it is said, have definitely checked them in eastern Galicia. Furthermore, London authorities continue to relate successes of greater or lesser degree for the Russian forces in Poland operating against the army of Von Hindenburg.

The allies' fleet bombarded the Dardanelles forts yesterday according to dispatches from Athens, but the British press bureau has not confirmed this report. The British press bureau says that four ships shelled the interior forts from the Gulf of Saros, and that anxiety at Constantinople is increasing.

SILENCE RUSSIAN FORTS

Berlin, March 3.—The Russian forts at Osowetz in Russia, Poland, have been demolished and their guns silenced according to a dispatch printed today in a Berlin paper. Osowetz is an important fortress in northern Poland, near the Russian frontier. It is one of the points of support in the fortified line to which the Russian tenth army fell back after its retreat recently from East Prussia.

London, March 3.—Austrian warships have been bombarding Antivari, the seaport of Montenegro. They inflicted considerable damage. This information is confirmed by a dispatch received today by the Montenegrin consul general in London. The message, which comes from Cetinje, reads as follows: "Yesterday five Austrian warships entered the port of Antivari and bombarded the town and fort. They destroyed a quantity of valuable stores, sunk the royal yacht which was at anchor, and killed one civilian."

Denies Russian Success. Berlin, via London, March 3.—The Tagblatt correspondent in Galicia telegraphs that the Russians have not won a single complete success in their effort to regain Carpathian crests lost by them. Heavy fighting continues, he says, along the whole line in spite of heavy snowstorms. The Russians are sacrificing many men, the correspondent declares. In their effort to regain mountain heights and prevent a threatened encircling of their flank.

NEED PATCHING WORK FOR DETROIT TIGERS TO WIN THE PENNANT

Jennings Expects to Use Old Team in American League Race This Year With Few Changes.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Detroit, Mich., March 3.—Hugh Jennings is going to stand by his 1914 team. There is a hole at second, left vacant by the collapse of Marty Kavanagh, the Jersey cave man, and good pitchers always can be used, but that will be the extent of the Jungletown patching. This was the hope handed out by the prophets today.

Some thousands of fans who believe the Tigers would have beaten the Red Sox out of second place in the American league race last season had Cobb been able to remain in the game throughout the summer, are confidently predicting a pennant for the Bengals in 1915. Most of the others believe "There's a fighting chance."

George Burns, who was more or less of a sensation last year, undoubtedly will be seen at first base again this season. Donie Bush will be at short, and George Moriarty, the veteran, who had one of his best seasons last year, at third. Cobb, Crawford and Veach will continue at their respective positions unless Jacobson, the Mobile swatster, succeeds in supplanting Veach in the right field. Veach is the best outfielder in baseball will be bettered. Strange again will be the first string catcher, with "Red" McKee and Del Baker continuing as first and second base men and slugging men.

There are three persons of promise who are yearning to cavort around the keyhole sack for Jennings this year. Two of them, "Bep" Young of Sacramento, and Frankie Fuller, a native son of Detroit, who achieved local fame as a sandlotter, are recruits. The third is Oscar Vitt, a native son of Detroit, who can play better baseball than many regulars, but who never has been able to last long at a stretch because of boils, indigestion, and an unlucky series of broken bones and other ills. Young and Fuller are heralded as crack infielders, but are said to be weak with the bludgeon. Vitt is formidable both in the field and at bat. A good winning league guess would give Vitt the job. The possibility of Burns on second and Walter Pipp, who recently refused to sign one of Manager Bill Donovan's Yankee contracts, on first, is worth mentioning because of the added batting strength such a combination would give the team.

The pennant prospects of the Tigers really depend on the ability of the pitching staff to perform as it has shown itself capable of performing in seasons past. Of recent year, the Tiger moundsmen have been noted for having great "heat"—one pitched at a time. In 1912, it was Jean Dubuc who proved to be a world beater. The next year George Dauss came through. Last season, it was Harry Covey, who pitched the best game of the year, and at the same time, and Reynolds and Covey continue the stride they struck last fall. Jennings would ask nothing more.

Then there is George Boehler, who has more stuff than Walter Johnson, but who has never shown any one comprehension of the purpose for which a white rubber is placed on the vicinity of the batter. If George should ever grasp the fundamental principles of that art known as control, he would prove the sensation of the year. But that isn't probable. Oldham, a southern garner from Providence, looked good in some autumn games and may be able to break into the first string mound staff. He pitched some 50 or 60 innings for Detroit last fall and did not pass a man. He wasn't bombarded vigorously, either.

Of the pitching recruits, there is little to be said. They were picked from deep in the bush by scouts who professed to see a future for them. If one of the quietest develops into the real thing, there will be cause for manifestations of extreme joy by Jennings.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE FOR LAWRENCE NEARLY FULL WITH SIX HARD GAMES

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Appleton, Wis., March 3.—The football schedule for Lawrence college has been practically completed. Earl McBurnis, manager, has preliminary games have been arranged to start the season, with four hard contests following.

The schedule, as arranged to date, follows:
Oct. 2—Wisconsin at Madison.
Oct. 9—Oshkosh Normal at Oshkosh.
Oct. 16—Open.
Oct. 23—Lake Forest at Lake Forest.

Oct. 30—Marquette at Milwaukee.
Nov. 6—Carroll at Wausau.
Nov. 13—Edison at Appleton.

Edison probably will not play Lawrence this year, as that college recently enacted a three-year eligibility rule, forbidding freshmen to play, and they will meet no team which does not have a similar rule.

BRIEF SPORT NOTES.

Elkhorn Game Now Certain: Prin. L. F. Rahr telephoned Coach Curtis this morning at the high school from Elkhorn, stating that the Elkhorn basketball tossers would play Jamesville on the night of March 12th, as per schedule. Evansville was refused a game by the Elkhorn team.

SPRING SHOOTING TABOOED BY LAWS

Government Gives Inquiry to Inquiries—Will Rigidly Enforce Letter of Statute.

Inquiries of local sportsmen regarding spring shooting and the federal migratory bird law relative to the sportsman's keeping within the statute have been at last answered by a reply from the national authorities.

That is an easy matter for him, for he has received an at subject recently, officials of the Department of Agriculture believe that sportsmen may unintentionally violate the provisions of the Federal Migratory Bird Law, which is the purpose of the government to enforce rigidly. Under the provisions of this law no water fowl can be shot in the northern or central zone after January 15, except in New Jersey where the season extends to February 1. In most of the southern or wintering zone the season closes February 1, but extends to February 15 in Florida, Georgia and South Carolina. These regulations were proclaimed on October 1, 1914. No change has since been made until the constitutionality of the law has been passed on by the United States Supreme court. As a matter of fact, the law provides that all changes in the regulations must be considered for a period of 90 days, and then must be approved and become effective. It is thus evident that there is no possibility that the prohibition of spring shooting will in any way be modified this year.

The officials of the United States Department of Agriculture who are entrusted with the enforcement of the law are anxious that these facts be impressed upon the people because it is the intention to investigate carefully all reports of violations made to the department's inspectors and wardens and to prosecute all such violations in Federal courts. In this connection it is pointed out that prosecutions may be instituted at any time within three years of the offense.

Sport Snap Shots

MORRIS MILLER

New York has not had a batting leader in any league in twenty-four years. It is indeed strange for a city which has possessed so many high class teams and players to leave its honor slip past. The nearest approach to a batting leader was in 1910, when Otis Crandall had the highest percentage of any man in the National League, but the honor was awarded to Sherwood Magee, as Crandall had played in but a small number of games.

Jack Karst of Philadelphia, who was taken south by Connie Mack last spring, has signed a contract with the Brooklyn Nationals, and will be changed by the Dodgers for Dayton, Feb. 25. Mack sent Karst to Portsmouth, Va., last spring, but he was only there for a while. Portsmouth wanted Karst to return this year, but Manager William Robinson gave him a better contract.

Manager Rickey of the Browns denies a story sent out from Pittsburg that he has made an effort to get Jimmy Ryan to jump back from the Reds. Rickey feels that Austin's jump relieved him of some embarrassment. He did not want to turn a faithful veteran down, yet could not figure him as a regular player on the Browns this year.

Hugh Jennings says that Lajoie won't fill Eddie Collins' shoes and that the Sox will beat the Athletics. As Hugh has the shoes of about nine men to fill, he doesn't worry about Lajoie.

The Brookfords are going to train at a place ten miles from a railroad station and three miles from a telegraph wire. Dick Rudolph puts it aptly when he said they must be going there for secret practice.

The Chicago White Sox may win a few more games, but they'll lose columns of free ads now that Ping has gone back to bust fences on the coast.

George Stallings says that it was optional with Charlie Deal whether he should stay with the Braves or jump to the Reds. Deal saw the option in his Fed contract and closed the option in a hurry, because it meant more to him than to stick with the Braves and have the world's series money thrown in.

Roger Bresnahan has been living the peaceful life all winter. He has been careful not to take on much weight. Bresnahan does not intend to be a bench warmer in any sense of the word.

It is predicted among leading swimmers that the aquatic pentathlon will be a popular form of contest soon. It may eventually be added to the list of amateur athletic union championships. The best scheduled seems to be that which includes swimming 100 and 440 yards, free style, and 100 yards on the back; fancy diving for form and competition in rescue and resuscitation.

Major league baseball moguls may raise the price of seats to two dollars, it is rumored. If they do we have a hunch that tennis and golf will become even more popular than was the case last year. The interest in those sports was undoubtedly one of the chief causes of the marked decrease in attendance last year.

Just because "Bill" Donovan hit .292 while with Washington in 1898, he is considering the possibilities of developing himself into a "pinch-hitter." "Joe" Kelly is "agh" it.

GIBBONS IS WINNER OVER ED. M'GOORTY

St. Paul Middleweight Has a Clear Shade Over Oshkosh Boxer in Hard Fought Battle.

Mike Gibbons, at the end of the ten round mill at Hudson last night, had a clear shade over Eddie McGorty, his speed and cleverness made him king over the Oshkosh man in the short route. It was the best non-decision mill that has been seen in Wisconsin or the middle west in years. Mike Gibbons this time against McGorty, with his powerful left jab, did not turn tail and run, but scored a point after point by his ring tactics, following McGorty at all times. Gibbons took the honors in six of the rounds and McGorty shared with the other four by a narrow margin. McGorty was desperately throughout, but was baffled by the wizard speed of the St. Paul "phantom," who was clearly the master when it came to a boxing standpoint. The Oshkosh idol fought hard, but Mike slipped inside of punches that would have spelled defeat for him, stepped back from others, blocked the short but wicked left jab, and conducted himself as the unshakable moving human target that baffled Champion Jimmy Clabby.

Gibbons sprung a surprise by his fighting ability. Fighting at long range McGorty was lost, but it was expected he would shade the flashy Gibbons in the close work. Gibbons elected from the start to keep close to McGorty, to star clear of the platoon left, and he succeeded. At the end of the fight Gibbons had a punch, but only once did it connect with a spot that is known to produce knockouts.

Gibbons' head slipping was baffling. When McGorty would slash across a waist that would fall an ordinary boxer, the St. Paul man dropped his head slightly and the blow went wild. The damage inflicted by Mike was not great, but he contented himself with continual jabbing that served to make the Badger man backup. Hudson, a town of six thousand, was visited by fight fans numbering over five thousand. The house was estimated at twenty thousand dollars.

MRS. WIGGS NOT LIKE THE BOOK

Photoplay Disappoints Those Who Were Familiar With Alice Rice's Novel.

The picturized version of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" was presented at the Apollo last night by the World Film Corporation, was a very great disappointment to many who attended expecting the picture to be a dramatization of the book by Alice Rice. The story and plot were doctored and changed by the film company so as to bring out the sensational parts rather than the human interest part of what should be a touching drama. The atmosphere and interest in Mrs. Rice's original story were sacrificed to make a drama of the dime novel style.

One who had never read Mrs. Rice's wonderful book would not have noticed the changes naturally, but the production was spoiled as far as the admirers of the original Mrs. Wiggs were concerned.

PORTER

Porter, March 1.—Friends were glad to learn that Mrs. Claude Watson, who has been at Mercy Hospital was able to return to her home on Saturday.

James McBride of Chicago is visiting at the home of G. W. McCarthy. Mrs. Judd McCarthy and Miss Ethel Anderson of Stoughton, attended services at St. Michaels church in Porter on Sunday. E. J. J. are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby boy. Mrs. Norum is caring for mother and child.

Mrs. Mary Downey and Mrs. Frank Young were entertained at the home of Mrs. Louis Steep on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Boden were callers on Sunday at the home of Albert Boden.

Mrs. C. W. McCarthy is spending a week in Milwaukee.

Miss Helen Barrett is visiting at the home of her uncle, Eddie Ford. R. L. Earle who has been on the sick list is reported to be improving rapidly.

Mrs. Claude Watson enjoyed a post card shower on Monday. She received over thirty cards and is very thankful to her many friends for their kindness.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Monthly entertained at a six o'clock dinner on Sunday evening. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ludden, Paul and Kenneth Ludden, Mrs. Ella Ludden, Vincent Ludden, Miss Mary Ludden, Mrs. Ellingson, Marvin Ellingson, Miss Catherine Wright and Will Wright.

Amusements

AT MYERS THEATRE.

One of the season's theatrical best bets, biggest hits, is the big musical comedy sensation—or rather—incoherence—"September Morn," which comes almost from its immensely successful run at the La Salle Theatre, Chicago. The cast includes Leo Greenwood, Hazel Shannon, Elsie Baird, Dorothy Earl, Wm. Howland, and the prettiest chorus that ever came to town; a big company of jolly dancing and singing girls, charmingly gowned, who fit into the scenic framing beautifully. Rowland & Clifford have given an expensive and elaborate production resulting in a triumph complete. The X-ray Futurist Twirl and other Tango ideas in sensational dancing are among the lively and joyous Turkey-Trot effects. This lively fun show will be the attraction at the Myers theatre, Friday, March 5.

AT MYERS THEATRE.

"Potash & Perlmutter."
Direct from its second year at the Cohen Theatre, New York City, "Potash & Perlmutter" comes to the Myers Theatre on Friday, March 12. No announcement could be of greater interest to the theatre-goers of this city, who have heard so much about this most remarkable of comedies. "Potash & Perlmutter" is an "up-to-date garment in three pieces" made from the material in Montague Glass' famous stories in the Saturday Evening Post, and "triumphed with a thousand laughs, and guaranteed to fit all sizes and ages." No play within the memory of the oldest theatre-goer made a quicker or greater hit in New York than this delightful dramatization of the joys and sorrows, trials and triumphs of the two lovable partners who are business men to the tips of their fingers and all of whom have made fame for themselves by their delightful interpretation of Mr. Glass' unique characters.

SHEBOYGAN HAS ADOPTED NEW MUNICIPAL SLOGAN

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Sheboygan, Wis., March 3.—"Say it—Sheboygan makes it." That is the new slogan of the city of "cheese, chairs and children." It was selected by a committee from 450 replies in a contest promoted by the publicity committee of the Sheboygan chamber of commerce. The winning slogan was submitted by Eldon Greve, 14 years old. Sixteen schools were entered and a prize was awarded for the best slogan from each school.

Pinchle and Politics, Love and Law, Strikes and Styles contribute to the stirring story of "Potash & Perlmutter." Abe and Morris are seen first in their modest downtown factory and salesroom on the verge of bankruptcy because a rival firm has employed the prize designer whose designs Arverne Sacque has no equal in the trade. How Abe and Morris secure this designer and then, when on the way to a fortune, risk their all to save him from unjust imprisonment, a poor young Russian refugee; how they get out of their difficulties while Morris wins the designer for life and Abe gets a fine son-in-law; how the partners quarrel and make up, and quarrel and make up again, and again, is told in three acts that fairly teem with laughs, although at times the tears will come to the eyes of the audience.

It is the wonderful heart interest of "Potash & Perlmutter" that accounts as much as anything else for its wonderful grip on the public. It is intensely human, intensely true. The sale of seats will begin Tuesday, March 9.

AT THE APOLLO.

The Typhoon Tonight.
Paramount pictures have demonstrated their superiority over ordinary pictures and other feature productions but in "The Typhoon" the Paramount corporation has produced a photoplay that stands out even from their own features.

The story is the largest thing ever attempted of modern Japan and shows the power of Japan and gives one an idea in these times of war what Japan will do for the furtherance of Japan policies.

"The Typhoon" will be seen at the Apollo tonight for a return engagement.

SHOOT WILD DUCKS TO FEED CITIZENS OF AUSTRIAN CITY

No Immediate Demand for Supplies at Przemyśl Were Russians Have Besieged for Months.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Venice, March 3.—According to the Hungarian newspapers received here the situation in Przemyśl, which has been under siege of a Russian army for four months, is not yet alarming. Aviators, who visit the garrison almost daily, report that there should be no really serious shortage of provisions for another few months. The victualing problem has been considerably assisted by the flight over the town recently of vast flocks of wild ducks which were shot by the thousands.

The population of Przemyśl now numbers about 60,000 including both soldiers and civilians and 5,600 Russian prisoners. The garrison is all Hungarian.

The Russian besiegers under General Dimitrieff hold every entrance and approach to the town, but they are still outside of the outer line of the city's fortifications, which have a radius of twelve miles, and include a considerable area of farm and garden land and twelve small agricultural villages.

The city was well stocked with food at the beginning of the siege and this supply has been kept up under the strictest regulations by the military authorities. Food allotted for the civil population is turned out at stated intervals by the military governor, who fixes the retail price of each commodity. Prices, curiously enough, are lower than they were before the war, but money has really little value in a community where the amounts of each article purchasable are limited by law. Those who have no money receive free meals of approximately the same quantity and quality allowed to those who pay for their food.

The Russians outside the city also have several aeroplanes which make frequent reconnaissance flights over the city and the surrounding neighborhood. Occasionally they attempt bomb attacks, but none of these have resulted in any serious damage. Their hope, of course, is that a stray shot may find the Hungarian arsenal and ammunition stores.

It is said that the Hungarians within the city get along very well with their Russian prisoners, many of whom have given their parole and are allowed to move freely within a limited area. Some of the better educated Russian officers have voluntarily offered their services to officers and men of the garrison for instruction in the Russian language.

The one reason why P. A. has so many tried and trusty friends is because it's so gosh-ganged tasty and peaceful on the tongue. You can smoke it packed in your old jimmy-pipe or home-made cigarette just as fast and hard as you want to, from the time the sun peeps out till the little stars twinkle, and there's nary a trace of a bite or sting.

PRINCE ALBERT

the national joy smoke

is made biteless and stingless by a patented process controlled exclusively by us. You just charge a pipe or cigarette with this fragrant, satisfying tobacco and you will wonder why you held out so long and let your tongue curl up and crack every time you took your old jimmy pipe into your confidence.

Any store that sells tobacco can supply you with Prince Albert in the tidy red tin, 10c; toppy red bag, 5c; pound and half-pound tin humidors and that dandy P. A. pound crystal-glass humidor which not only keeps your supply in splendid condition, but is a thing of beauty and a joy forever.

WEATHER FORECAST.

It is safe to say that the ultra reform element will seek some new slogan upon which to affix the eye of the public before the next campaign really opens. The present schemes of the demagogues are worn out, have been borrowed by every political organization in the nation and consequently some new fixed motive for continuing in power. Socialism must be found. One of the old regime of the La Follette branch of the republican party at the state capital recently gave a hint what would be his liege Lord's newest wrinkle, that of government ownership of all public utilities. This would of course sooner or later include the railroads, but first hand would be the telephone and telephone lines. Leslie's Weekly points out a serious danger in government control of railroads. It says: "Few persons realize that while government ownership of railroads would be objectionable in itself, it would be all the more so because of the virtual control it would give the government over other important industries. This fact was brought out forcibly in a recent address by Benjamin F. Yoakum of the Frisco railroad system. Mr. Yoakum showed that if the government owned the railroads, it would become the purchaser of one third of all the steel and iron products of the country and one-quarter of the timber products, and would become one of the largest producers of coal and oil. The government could fix prices for the things it bought and produced and thus would practically fix prices for the public. The effect of this would be felt not only in the industries named, but also in all those tributary to them. Paternalism would be carried to an extreme, to the serious detriment of private enterprise. Mr. Yoakum argued that instead of taking possession of the railroads, the government should encourage their proper development.

"The problem of finding employment for the vast number of men out of work could, he showed, be solved if the railroads were enabled to extend their lines to new territory, making available for cultivation millions of acres of now unutilized land. The opening up of such sections would naturally attract hosts of toilers from congested centers of population. For thirty years there was an average of 6,000 miles annually of railroad built in this country. During the past two years, however, there has been no such construction. This means that the railroads failed to invest in that period $344,000,000, the expenditure of which would have vastly benefited general business and the armies of labor, not to mention the fact that thousands of new homes and many new industries would have been created along the extended lines. Here is a powerful indictment of the policy of the politicians and demagogues who have made war on the railroads, damaging seriously one of our most extensive industries and striking hard at the prosperity of the entire union."

THE PROBLEM.

While the allies have declared a counter-embargo on all foodstuffs to be taken into Germany, while the Dacia, with a cargo of cotton has been seized by a French vessel as a prize of war, the question remains, is not history repeating itself? The last bulletin of the Wisconsin State Historical society says that the gravest foreign situation with which the United States has been confronted during the present generation is curiosity like the one which the statesmen Jefferson and Madison faced in the early years of the nineteenth century. England was engaged in a historic grapple with the chief military power of the continent, then France instead of Germany as now. England was supreme on the sea, France invincible ashore. Napoleon's armies, like the Kaiser's legions, were unable to get at their opponent, while England could not cope with Napoleon ashore. Resort was had therefore to a contest of endurance. Napoleon interdicted English trade with the continent, to which the English replied by proclaiming a close blockade of all the coast line controlled by the great dictator. Not even England's navy could make good this decree, but it was more than matched in audacity by Napoleon's counter stroke, the proclamation of a blockade of the British isles, at a time when the French navy was closely cooped up in the home harbors. Of course the United States, then as now, the chief neutral power of the world, was the greatest sufferer from all this. After patiently enduring repeated outrages year after year at the hands of France and England alike, the country in 1812 entered light-heartedly and with almost no preparation into a war with the mistress of the seas.

Then going into the foodstuffs portion of the situation the Nation magazine explains the situation far better, more tersely and concisely than the ordinary articles dealing with the subject, when it says "that in the matter of foodstuffs, Sir Edward Grey's communication to Ambassador Page leaves it as yet uncertain whether England intends to keep them out of Germany by blockade or declaring them contraband. The latter plan is first to be tried in the case of the Wilhelmshaven cargo. A prize court will pass upon the question whether the German decree confiscating all food in the empire does not create the presumption that every shipment of foodstuffs is destined for military purposes."

contraband. On this subject the reasoning of the German government is far from conclusive, while its offer to guarantee that all imported food shall be earmarked for civilians is almost ludicrous. If the government really puts all food into one common reservoir, from which it does out portions both to the army and to non-combatants, it is perfectly evident that an outside supply for the latter would, in effect, place just that added amount at the disposal of the government for military purposes. Even in Germany, we suppose, things equal to the same thing are equal to each other."

If the Dardanelles are opened to trade at last, if the Black sea fleets can pass between the rocks where mythology tells us "Helen the Greek" was lost when she fell from the back of the ram with the golden fleece, then we may expect the great wheat-growing country of the region so long shut off from commerce will soon have that relieve the famine in western Europe. Perhaps it was more than sentiment that caused the bombardment of this ancient stronghold of the Turks.

Have you ever noticed how in reporting the losses in this or that attack upon some village the war reports say "two women and a child were killed," and "so many wounded and sixty soldiers dead" or something like that. The soldiers do not count but the public must know that some non-combatants are slain.

There is still an opportunity for a decisive flanking movement on the part of General Winter, and while the Spring's army is strongly entrenched it is possible they may be taken by surprise and forced back to their base of supplies where the reserves are being trained for the summer campaign.

High School Military Training Favored By Secretary Garrison

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Washington, March 3.—High school military training, unless carefully supervised and directed, will work evil rather than good in the opinion of Secretary of War Garrison.
So to prevent the widespread agitation for such training from becoming a detriment to the nation, he is coming down like a stick.

"It is all very easy for the outsider to say, 'yes that's a great idea; let's do it.' But it is another thing to map it out, and make it efficient. For that reason I want to call in interested citizens to confer with army experts. I shall plan to do this as soon as possible."

The secretary's idea would be to make such training in schools an attractive part of the curriculum, instead of a burden or hardship which students would avoid, as they sometimes do difficult studies.

As far as the war department is now concerned, it has no branch dealing directly with the general subject of school military training. The department is limited to actual army training, and to direction of state militia work, but Secretary Garrison tends soon to inaugurate a movement whereby this may be correlated and properly directed.

He announced today that he will try soon to get together a group of representative citizens from various communities to confer with a body of military experts from his department.

In this proposed conference a plan will be mapped out whereby military training may be used in the schools to the advantage of all concerned.

He decided on this measure only after careful study of the situation, and after hundreds of letters had suggested to him that the recent preparedness discussions had produced throughout the nation a movement for military training everywhere.

The secretary today explained that in many respects he believed the public schools of today attempted too wide a range, and to make any military training effective, he held, it must not be too ambitious a program thrown in as a part of an undigested whole.

"When I went to school," he commented, "there were too many subjects. We had drawing a while, geography a while, and then trigonometry and calculus. Many of us didn't even know how to spell calculus, much less did we know what it was all about. For this reason, I have always felt that there should be more selection about school courses.

"And with respect to the matter of military training, I feel that we should not rush into it without careful consideration. We should not have the idea that schools can accomplish the purpose of turning school boys into trained soldiers. We must see to it that the training is properly supervised and properly apportioned."

He indicated that he is in hearty accord with the general principle involved but that he did not feel that it should be like many popular movements—"going up like a rocket and coming down like a stick."

household will find it advantageous to eat more potatoes and less bread.

With potatoes at 60 cents a bushel, which is about 1 1/2 pounds, it would give the consumer a little more actual nourishment than two one-pound loaves of bread at five cents each.

The protein and fat are present in appreciably larger amounts in bread, but the bread would be found to furnish more carbohydrates, and more heat units.

Carbohydrates (starch) contribute greatly to the energy value of any diet and since potatoes are rich in these families that wish to expend their money to the best advantage are recommended to consider whether they cannot make more extended use of them. They are easy to cook, and when prepared in different ways can be made to lend variety to the winter diet when green vegetables are hard to obtain. Like other foods relatively rich in carbohydrates, however, potatoes should be eaten with food correspondingly rich in protein, such as milk, meat, eggs, etc., and with foods like butter, cream and meat fat to supply the fat that the body needs.

Under normal conditions in Europe and America the potato ranks next to bread as a carbohydrate food. If prices change sufficiently to make it desirable from a financial point of view there is no scientific reason why potatoes should not be substituted to a great extent for bread. In addition the potato, like any fruits and vegetables, helps to neutralize an acid condition—in the body. It is another reason for its being eaten in combination with meat, fish, and other animal food.

DECEASED WAS HELD.

HUNDREDS AT CHURCH

St. Patrick's is crowded.—Rev. Dean
Reilly Eulogizes in Fitting Funeral Oration.

The remains of the late Michael Hayes were laid to rest at St. Olaf cemetery this morning. Hundreds of friends of every walk of life gathered to pay a tribute to the deceased and members of his bereaved family and relatives.

At St. Patrick's church, on whose board of trustees Mr. Hayes has been long a member, the Rev. Father
E. B. Reilly, solemnized solemn requiem high mass at nine o'clock. The edifice was crowded at the time the funeral cortege left the residence, at

SIDE TALKS

By RUTH K. CAMERON

FORESTALLING FAMILY JARS.

When an animal in a menagerie is especially cross the keeper sometimes hangs a sign of warning on his cage.

Now, why wouldn't that be a good idea for human animals to adapt and adopt?

Don't laugh. I really know two young people who have found an adaptation of that idea of warning very helpful in avoiding family upsets.

This is what they do. When either one of them finds that he has gotten out of the wrong side of the bed, he warns the other "I feel pudgy today."

"Pudgy" is a word coined for the occasion. It means nervous and touchy, irritable, at odds with one's self and the world.

That announcement is received by the other as a warning and acted upon as such. He knows that if the pudgy one says something cross or disagreeable, he doesn't really mean it and he takes any such outburst with a kindly grain of salt. Again, he knows that little things that ordinarily would only mildly disturb his housemate today will grate on his nerves and irritate him beyond reason, and he makes a special effort to look out for the little individual sensitive spots that all of us possess. (I have used the pronoun "he" throughout to avoid awkwardness, but of course one of the two people is "she.")

Both Must Do Their Shares.

Let one thing be emphatically understood. Having given the warning does not entitle the pudgy one to give free rein to his pugnacity and to be just as disagreeable as he chooses. On the contrary he is expected to make payment for the consideration he is receiving by trying not to give way and by doing everything he can to regain his poise.

What happens when they are both pudgy at the same time? Well, that's a sorry day, but it doesn't happen very often, and when it does, the one who makes the announcement first is supposed to have the privilege of being looked out for.

Another interesting thing about this arrangement is that sometimes just making the announcement seems to clear the air, and pugnaciousness is put down already half overcome.

You're still laughing at the whole thing? You think it absurd? Very well, laugh if you want to but let me remind you of one thing. It's true and it has helped and it might help you, if you weren't above trying it.

Question—"Do you think it is wrong to elope? We want to get rid of all the fuss and feathers of a big wedding and so we are thinking of slipping away to the little church around the corner." The only thing that deters me is that it would make my mother feel so badly. She thinks that elopements are terrible.

Answer—"It isn't necessarily wrong to slip away to the little church around the corner," but it is very wrong to hurt your mother. Elopements have a bad name because they are usually hasty and ill-considered marriages and have an objectionable air of intrigue and concealment. I have a file of divorce filings and you would be surprised to know how many begin with the statement that the parties eloped. There are plenty of states where a big wedding and an elopement. Why not have a quiet home wedding? Any one who can face getting married can face that.

Question—"C. A. B." wants to know whether a young girl's card should have her full name or not.

Answer—"I believe that either the full name or simply Miss So-and-so is allowable.

FOUND A HOSPITAL; IS SOCIAL LEADER, ALSO SCULPTRESS

Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney.

Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney is the oldest daughter of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and the wife of Harry Payne Whitney, the famous polo player who represented America in international polo contests. Besides being active in society and the founder of a war hospital in Paris, Mrs. Whitney is a sculptress of note. Some of her finest work is being exhibited at the Panama exposition.

SWITZERLAND FILLED WITH WAR REFUGEES

Germans impose Many Strict Rules Over Neutral People.—Grain Supply from America.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Geneva, March 3.—The price of bread has increased 25 to 30 per cent in Switzerland in three weeks, while the size and quality of the loaves have diminished. Shippers will not take the risk of sending wheat down the Rhine to Basel as Germany has not given out a definite statement concerning the traffic on the Rhine. Southern Russia supplied most of the grain to Switzerland and this country now depends upon America for grain through Genoa and Marseilles, but the two ports are congested with goods and the former is temporarily closed. The Swiss mills cannot fill their orders and in Geneva alone 14 bakers closed their shops within the last two days. Switzerland is "supporting" a population of foreign nationalities numbering well over a million. Germany has practically closed her southern frontier against this country, involving much hardship on the inhabitants of both countries in the neutral zone. Passports costing six marks are now necessary to cross the German frontier for workmen. The milkmen at Kreuzlingen who carry milk, butter and cakes to the Swiss mans daily, struck and were supplied with passes.

Navigation on Lake Constance, which is patrolled by German boats, is practically at a standstill. No boat is allowed near the Zeppelin works at Friedrichshafen or off the shore. A new German order states that any boat approaching Friedrichshafen will be fired upon and that all Swiss fishermen must fly the Swiss flag in future.

ORION, OLD GREEK HERO DOMINATES MARCH SKY

Tonight the old Greek giant Orion will dominate the southern sky. The early evening sky, this magnificent constellation will be a little east of the meridian in the middle foreground of the heavens. Orion is the most splendid constellation in the whole firmament. He is surrounded and attended by other great constellations which make up a train worthy of the hero. The constellation in the center of the respondent here is the constellation of Orion, a hunter and was of tremendous stature. He was the ardent lover of Artemis, the virgin goddess who inadvertedly killed him, after which he was placed among the stars as a constellation. On the old charts of the heavens he is represented as flourishing a huge club with which he is about to assail Taurus, the bull, whose horns are shown in the constellation of Taurus. Orion is one of that hero's favorite hunting dogs, Minor Canis, while in the south is another favorite hunting dog, Major Canis, the constellation of Sirius, the dog star. Beneath the feet of Orion is a small constellation, the belt of Orion, a constellation, by very modest stars. To the north of Orion, and nearly over head, is another first magnitude star, Capella, largest member of the constellation Auriga. To the northwest, but very high, is the famous constellation Cassiopeia. The Pleiades or Seven Sisters, as a most attractive and beautiful asterism west of Orion is still another noted constellation. Let the lion, easily noted by good sized stars, in the form of a gleaming sickle. Coming up the northeastern sky is the Great Bear, the Dipper.

This splendid winter sky is cut across diagonally from northwest to southeast by the Milky Way. Astronomers know that the Milky Way is composed of stars very similar to our sun. Indeed, our sun is a component part of the Milky Way, a star of moderate size.

The heroic and dominant feature of this winter sky, Orion, is worthy of a minute and detailed description, though it is the most striking and well known constellation in the whole heavens. Every one, probably, knows the three stars which compose Orion's belt and the three which form the light sword suspended from it. This sword was probably a dress parade garment worn to please Artemis; the real lighting was done with the club. No doubt the lion whose skin hangs over his left shoulder was slain with the club. In the Book of Job the belt is called the "Bands of Orion"; the ancient poets called it "Jacob's rod."

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I have a friend who thinks so much of me and I do not care as much for him as I do for other fellows. He is so good to me and he is also true to me. What shall I do, keep his company or that of others whom I care for?

(2) Do you think that I should learn to love him if I should marry him?

(3) I took another girl's friend. Do you think that I did wrong or did he do wrong by going with me?

(4) The friend that I have now I promised to marry. Do you think that I will have good luck after breaking the promise to the other fellows if I marry him?

(1) Tell him that you do not love him. A girl has no right to let a man think that she cares for him when she does not. You will get more pleasure by being with boys whom you like.

(2) If you did anything to get him away from your friend, you were certainly in the wrong.

(3) A girl who has engaged herself to a serious thing must realize what a serious thing marriage is. She must have made two men suffer who probably have to pay, because it is certainly true that one reaps what he sows.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) We are two girls sixteen years old. Do you think girls of our age ought to go to public dances?

(2) What do you think of boys who stay after school and look in girls' books?

(3) How old should we be before we can get married?

(1) If you receive the invitation from him, then you are engaged.

(2) Yes. Love is all that is necessary.

(3) A birthday gift would be rather poor taste unless you are engaged. A pin or a book would be all right if you are engaged.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Should a girl who is not engaged to a young man with whom she is going to marry, promise him not to go with other fellows?

(2) Should a young lady go with other fellows if she is engaged to a young man with whom she is going to marry?

(3) Is it all right for a girl to go with one fellow and write letters to another?

(4) No. (2) No. SORROWFUL.

(3) Yes, unless she is engaged and her fiancé objects.

EGG DISHES.

New Way to Fry Eggs.—Heat griddle smoking hot, put in just enough grease to keep eggs from sticking to griddle; break eggs, separate yolks from whites, and cook each side until browned, turn or roll eggs over to brown on other side, slip them onto warm plate and serve. Eggs cooked this way are tender, juicy, not tough and leathery as when a great amount of grease is used.

Scrambled Eggs.—For every six eggs put six tablespoons milk and one tablespoon melted butter in a frying pan, when hot add eggs, do not stir until whites are nearly cooked, then number the yolks and stir well. As soon as "set" remove from fire and season with salt and pepper to taste.

Breaded Eggs.—Allow one cup bread crumbs, one egg, salt and pepper, mix well. Dip eggs in milk, then in crumbs, fry in hot oil until browned, drain on paper.

Creamed Eggs.—One tablespoon butter, one cup milk, one tablespoon flour, three hard-boiled eggs, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon pepper, mix well. Beat eggs, add pinch of salt, stir eggs in bread crumbs, put in hot frying pan and brown on both sides. Serve.

Creamed Eggs.—One tablespoon butter, one cup milk, one tablespoon flour, three hard-boiled eggs, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon pepper, mix well. Beat eggs, add pinch of salt, stir eggs in bread crumbs, put in hot frying pan and brown on both sides. Serve.

Eggs in Nest.—First make pieces of toast for as many eggs as you wish to serve. Have ready a pan, dip the toast in milk (which should be heated), then place in the egg, beat white of egg until quite stiff, piling same on toast; drop yolk carefully into center; when all are ready place in rather warm oven until yolk is set and white tinted a nice brown. Have plates heated and by adding a sprig of parsley you have a tasty, pretty dish. You can add seasoning like butter or cheese or tomato. Chilled sauce is very good served with these.

Baked Eggs No. 1.—Butter baking dish, line with bread crumbs, break eggs, beat whites, cover with grated cheese or not as preferred, season with butter, pepper and salt; cover with bread crumbs, place in hot oven until whites are "set."

Baked Eggs No. 2.—Butter deep plate thoroughly, add a little salt and pepper, break in eggs and immerse them with sweet cream; put into oven and bake five minutes or till egg is "set." Ready for table.

Boiled Eggs.—Put them in cold water and when the eggs are done, the whites being hot and digestible, as they are not when put on in boiling water.

Soft-Boiled Eggs.—Place eggs in boiling water, break them for three eggs; remove from stove and let stand covered from seven to ten minutes.

Poached Eggs.—Nearly fill frying pan with boiling water; add a little salt and vinegar; break eggs, slip them into surface of water; cook for three minutes, take up with perforated spoon and serve immediately.

Plain Omelet.—Three eggs; well beaten; stir into eggs about 1 1/2 teaspoons flour, being sure to add a little salt and large tumbler of milk. Heat frying pan, melt on it a little butter to grease it well, pour on omelet and bake in over to a nice brown.

UP-TO-DATE RECIPE.

Cabbage Salad.—Chop half head cabbage very fine. Stir half cup sugar in beaten yolks of two eggs, add one teaspoon each of salt and mustard, one-fourth teaspoon pepper. Now stir the whole into three-fourths cup boiling vinegar and cook until thick. When cool add two tablespoons sweet cream and pour over the cabbage; serve.

Party Dessert.—Wash one cup rice, boil in salt water fifteen minutes (or until grain is soft); cook in morning, drain and set aside to cool. When ready to serve, whip one pint cream, sweeten and flavor, crumb rice in cream, stir carefully. Serve in sherbet glass with dip of preserved cherries or strawberries. Serve with cakes. This recipe will serve fifteen people.

Madison, Wis., March 3.—That the normal school regents have no authority to permit his appearance as a lobbyist, says Owen.

Madison, Wis., March 3.—That the normal school regents have no authority to permit those in the service of a normal school to come before the legislature at public expense to appear on legislation not of direct interest to the normals is the effect of an opinion of Attorney General Walter C. Owen delivered to the assembly this morning. The opinion is rendered in response to a resolution offered by Assemblyman W. C. Bradley of Hudson and passed by the legislature in opposition to the repeal of the compact of education bill and while so engaged to continue on salary.

Attorney General Owen points out that the resolution is directed at Prof. C. E. Patzer of the Milwaukee normal. The resolution of the normal regents directing Prof. Patzer to appear before the legislature was passed on February 3, 1915, and recites that the governor of the state has requested the board to give a leave of absence to Prof. C. E. Patzer with pay and an allowance of reasonable and necessary expenses so that he may confer with members of the state legislature now in session on rural school legislation.

The opinion examines the statutes creating the board of normal school regents in great detail. It covers the ground of aid that the rural schools might get from this advice and vice versa. It concludes, however, that the board has no such power to direct a professor to appear on salary.

"I state this conclusion rather reluctantly because I have always considered that the state having in its service a public servant possessing special knowledge upon a subject receiving legislative consideration was entitled to the benefit of the knowledge and advice of such public servant in the matter of framing legislation upon that subject," says the opinion. "There is no doubt of the power of the state to provide, but it must be provided by law. The state not having seen fit to make such provision and the question being placed squarely before me, I can do no more than to declare the law upon the subject and call the attention of the legislature thereto so that the matter may receive legislative consideration. I deemed a proper subject therefore. My conclusion is that the board of normal school regents may not permit those in its service to come to Madison at public expense to advise with the legislature of any of its committees upon any matters not affecting in some way the normal schools themselves."

MOTOR AMBULANCE FLEET GIVEN NAMES OF GIRLS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, March 3.—A fleet of about seventy-five motor ambulances, each one bought by English women and girls of the same given name, is being organized by the Red Cross for service at the front. The names selected for the ambulances include: Agnes, Alice, Barbara, Clara, Edith, Elizabeth, Gertrude, Isabel, Jessie, Katherine, Laura, Margaret, Mary, Nellie, Olive, Ruth, Sarah, Violet and Wilfred. Each car will bear the name of the girl who contributed to it, e. g., all the money collected from women named Josephine will go into the purchase of the Josephine ambulance.

DEPICTS MISERY IN WAR-TORN BELGIUM; MORE FUNDS NEEDED

Returned Member of American Commission Tells of Awful Suffering.—Gazette Starts New Campaign.

"No one has yet written the story of Belgium. No one can write it. Our commission has watched for the writer who could describe to the world the desolation, starvation and human misery. But it has not yet been put on paper."

Such is the statement of J. F. Lucey, member of the American commission for the relief of Belgium, who has just returned from the war zone after four months' service in aiding in the distribution of food to the Belgians. In another four weeks he will return to Rotterdam to resume his work.

In view of the conditions which are described by Lucey, the Gazette has determined to conduct another campaign in Janesville for Belgian relief. Funds will be received at the Gazette and forwarded to the headquarters of the American commission at New York.

See America's Duty.

"I was in the American army in the Philippine campaign," Lucey says in a statement. "I took part in the gold rush to Alaska. I have prospected in Mexico and was raised in the mining camps of the west—but never before have I seen people living under such terrible conditions as the Belgians are."

"But I don't want to talk war. Americans should get down on their knees and thank God that they are in America and every American should contribute to help keep a nation of 7,000,000 starving people alive."

"My work of food distribution took me all over the country, right up to the very firing lines. We went to all places where there were or had been people, because there were no more starving. The American flag is worshipped in Belgium. The United States is loved as the most humane nation in the world. Time and again people of the cities have attempted to make an American demonstration. Ambassador Whitlock has been invited by the Belgium leaders to allow their countrymen to show their appreciation, but he has always refused. It might result in trouble."

Women Inspiration of Belgium.

"The women—they have been the inspiration of Belgium in this war—kiss the American flag to show their love and veneration. If an automobile passes flying over stars and stripes the men remove their hats. They used to cheer, but they are past that stage now. I always wore a little American flag on my lapel and wherever I went the people would take off their hats as I passed to show their respect."

"The commission which organized on Oct. 25 to feed the Belgium nation, distributed 28,423 tons of food in November, 51,704 in December, and 73,000 in January. We are now caring for 1,750,000.

"The commission has a card index of every man, woman and child in Belgium and the food that we distribute goes only to those cases where there has been an investigation. It is all handled under the American flag, so that there is no interference from the military government and none is misappropriated. We are buying heaviest of wheat, corn, beans, peas, and rice. We prefer wheat, because we can start the mills and give some of the men work."

How the Work is Done.

"The commission's work is divided into four divisions—charitable, provisioning, clothing and the 'ship' canteen department. Shortly after the beginning of the war, when the Germans requisitioned all food, the women of the country became so weak that they could not nurse their children. The cows in the country were starving also for lack of food. The commission organized the women of Belgium and every woman in the land with a baby is getting enough nourishment to keep herself and her child alive."

"To keep up the work the commission will have to collect $2,500,000 a month from America. We have undertaken to do it and I know that the Americans well enough to know that it will be done."

Animal Jingles FOR LITTLE FOLK

CAN YOU GUESS IT?

And did you guess the animal I gave you yesterday? It was a BAT—that wasn't hard to tell. And now I'm going to give you one that doesn't live round here. And so you do not know it quite so well.

The animal I have in mind is something like a goat. And lives away up in the mountains high. It scrambles up the steepest cliff so very agilely. You really couldn't catch it if you'd try.

It has a splendid pair of horns, which curl back at the top; its tail is short and black, and do you know. Its hair is brown in winter, and is grayish in the spring? That is most curious, but it's really so.

You'd be surprised if you could see the little creature jump. Across a chasm that would take your breath. And it can calmly walk along beside a precipice. Where you and I would most be scared to death.

It's very fleet and graceful, and I'm sure that you have seen its picture in your big geography. I'll tell its name tomorrow; in the meantime I will give a little hint—its name begins with "C."

Glimpses of Married Life

By MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Now, begin all over again. I have told you times enough that when the clock is running I can't hear a word you say."

Dick was bounding away on the type writer in the bedroom. "You could have heard all right if you had stopped the machine a minute," answered Nell through the closed door.

"If there's anything you want just step this way, please. I must get this letter off before I leave."

Nell put her head out of the kitchen door. "I only wanted to know how many slices of bacova you could eat, you could eat, save my lungs."

"Oh, two or three will be enough," said Dick, thumping at his letter.

The hissing of the pen was heard and the savory odor floated into the bedroom.

"Don't fry mine hard," called Dick in senatorial tones. Intending to carry above the clatter of the machine the voice of the kitchen and through the closed door.

When they were seated at the table Dick spared the bacon slices one after the other with a disconcerted expression on his face. "It's all hard. Didn't I want mine soft and tell you I wanted mine soft?"

"No, I can't hear anything when meat is frying and the door is closed. From room to room anyway. The house is not so large that it would hurt for either of us to go where we can be heard, using an ordinary tone of voice." Nell was pouring the delicious coffee.

"As far as this morning is concerned, I was in a big rush and couldn't leave my work. You know how I like bacon and I can't under hard, you must force me to like the same way." Dick took the cup Nell handed him and laying his watch on the table by his plate began his breakfast.

"I took your slices out first, but the warming oven seemed to finish cooking them. I wouldn't be as fussy as you are for—"

"Oh, you wouldn't. Oh, no!" Dick laughed. "There was ever a fussy person about her eating you are she."

"You know better, Dick Morton. You can't mention a single thing that I am fussy about," said Nell, bridling.

"I am keenly disappointed that the warning hands of my watch forbid my taking up the gauntlet you have thrown down." Dick pocketed the coffee saucer and swallowed the coffee at a rate of speed warranted to produce indigestion. "I would dearly love to stay here and scrap with you,

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to keep her Locks Dark, Glossy, Thick.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a tooth brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids, or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

THE LADY AND THE PIRATE

By EMERSON HOUGH

Copyright, 1913, by Emerson Hough

We found that the piling waters of Cote Blanche, erstwhile blown out to sea, were now slowly settling back again, after the offshore storm. The Belle Helene had risen from her bed in the mud now and rode free. Our soundings showed us that it would be easy now to break out the anchor and reach the channel, just ahead. So, finding no lack of consequence and the beloved engines not the worse for wear, Williams went below to get up some power, while Peterson took the wheel and I went forward to the capstan.

"Keep hoi!" the lighthouse keeper commanded when we reached his shanty wharf. "No, you'll didn't!"

"We'll didn't what, my friend?" began I mildly. "Don't you like my

"Keep hoi!" the lighthouse keeper commanded.

looks? Not that I blame you if you do not. But has the boat brought down any milk or eggs that you can spare?"

"No milk—no baig!" muttered the light tender, and they would have closed the door.

"Come, come now, my friends!" I rejoined easily. "Suppose you haven't; you can at least be civil. I want to talk with you a minute. This is the power yacht Belle Helene of Mackinac, cruising on the gulf. We went aground in the storm, and all we want now is to send out a little mail by you to Morgan City or wherever you go now to pass the time of day with you as friends should. What's wrong? Do you think us a government revenue boat and are you smuggling stuff from Cuba through the light here?"

"We no make any smug," replied the keeper. "But we know you, who you been?"

CHAPTER XX:

In Which I Find Two Estimable Friends.

HE smote now upon an open newspaper, whose wrapper still lay on the floor. I glanced, and this time I saw a half page cut of the Belle Helene herself, together with portraits of myself, Mrs. Danvers, Miss Embury and two wholly imaginary and fearsome boys who very likely were made up from newspaper portraits of the James brothers. Moreover, my hasty glance caught sight of a line of large letters reading, "Ten Thousand Dollars Reward!"

"Peterson," said I calmly, handing him the paper, "they seem to be after us and to value us rather high."

PERSON, while a professional housekeeper, was personally a man of whose loyalty and whose courage I myself had not the slightest doubt.

"Let em come!" said he. "We're on our own way and about our own business and outside the three mile zone. Let 'em follow us on the high seas if they like. She's sound as a bell, Mr. Harry, and once we get her docked and her port shaft straight there's nothing can touch her on the gulf. Let 'em come!"

"But we can't dock here, my good Peterson."

"Well, we can beat 'em with one engine and one screw. Besides, what have we done?"

"Hain't you was hrobber, han ron hoi with those sheep?" demanded the keeper excitedly.

"No, we are not ship thieves, but gentlemen, my friend," I answered, suddenly catching at his long gun and setting it behind me. "You might let that go off," I explained. At which he went yellow then ever, a thing I had thought impossible.

"No, look here," said I. "Suppose we are robbers, pirates, what you like, and suppose a price is put on our heads—a price which means a jolly nice label suit for each party printing it, by the way, or a jolly nice apology—none the less, we are a strong band and without fear either of the law or of you. Here you are alone, and not a sail is in sight. We could blow you out of the water, couldn't we—and these ruffians of our crew?"

I pointed at the two low browed pictures of Lafitte and L'Olonnois.

A shudder was my only answer. I think the two portraits of my young bullies did the business.

"Very well, then," I resumed; "it is plain, messieurs, that there is many a slip between the reward and the pocket, voyez vous? Bien! But here—and I thrust a hand into my pocket—is a reward much closer home and far easier to attain."

Their eyes bulged as they saw two or three thousand dollars in big bills smoothed out.

"Ecoutez, messieurs!" said I. "Behold here not enemies, but men of like mind. I speak of men who live by the sea, men of the old home of Jean Lafitte, that great merchant, that bold soldier, who did so much to save his country at the battle. Even now he has thousands of friends and hundreds of relatives in this land. You yourself, I doubt not, messieurs, are distant cousins of Jean Lafitte? Nest-ce pas?"

They crossed themselves, but murmured "Bouh!" "Est ces the truth?" How did monsieur know?" asked the tender.

"I know many things. I know that any cousin descended from those brave days loves the sea and its ways more than he loves the law. And if money has come easy—as this did—what harm if a cousin should take the price of a rat-skin or two and carry out a letter or so to the railway and keep a close mouth about it as well? To the good old days and messieurs, my friends!" I had seen the neck of a flask in Peterson's pocket, and now I took it forth, unscrewed the top and passed it, with two bills of $100 each.

They poured, grinded and handed the flask—not the bills—back to Peterson and me.

"Merci, mes amis!" said I. "And I drink to Jean Lafitte and the old days! Perhaps you may buy a mass for your cousin's soul?"

"Ah, non!" answered the keeper. "Hoes non! she's hoi of purgatorie long hago eef she'll goin' get hoi. Me, I buy me some net for 'strimp."

"An me, two harpent more lan' for my farm," quoth the tender.

"Alas, poor Jean!" said I. "You will take the letters and this for the telegraph?"

"Certain!" I'll took it those," answered the tender. "You'll stayed for dish coffee, yass?" inquired the keeper, with Cajun hospitality.

"No, I fear it is not possible, thank you," I replied. "We must be going soon."

"An' where you'll goin', monsieur?"

"Around the island, up the channel, over the old oyster boat channel of M. Edouard. The letters are some of them for M. Edouard himself. And you know well, mes amis, that once we lie at the wharf of M. Edouard not the government even of the state will touch us yonder."

"My faith, non! I should say it—certain! not! No man he'll mawney wit' M. Edouard, heem! You'll was know him, monsieur?"

"We went to school together. We smoked the same pipe."

"My faith! You'll know M. Edouard!" The keeper shook my hand.

"He'll was work for M. Edouard many tam hon hees boat, hon hees plantation, hon hees 'ouse. When I'll want some little money, 'spose those brat he'll wasn't been prime yet, hain't he'll need was to go non M. Edouard, hain't for these little money. He'll was it."

on me, yass, heem, ten dollar, jus' like as heavy monsieur has giv' it me hundred dollar now, yass, heem!"

"Yes? Well, I know that a cousin of Jean Lafitte, who no doubt has dug for treasure all over the dooryard of M. Edouard?"

"But not bein' the smokehouse—nearly on dose place yet, I'll sweat it!"

"Very well. Suppose you have not yet included the smokehouse of M. Edouard? At least you are his friend. And what Acadian lives who is not a friend of the ladies?"

"Certain," monsieur.

"Very well again. What you see in the paper is all false. The two ladies whose pictures you see here and here are yonder at our camp. You shall come and see that they are well and happy, both of them. Moreover, if you like another fifty you yourself, my friend, shall pilot us into the channel of M. Edouard. We'll tow your boat behind us across the bay. Is it not?"

"Certain!" Ouil! answered the tender. "But you'll had leetle dish coffee quite plain?" once more demanded the lonesome keeper, and for sake of his hospitable soul we now said yes, and very good coffee it was too. Ah, pirate blood is far thicker than any water you may find.

"But if we take you on as pilot, my friend," said I to the pilot as at length we arose, "how shall we get out our letters after all?"

"Thass plain right," replied he. "My cousin, Richard Barriere—she's cousin of Jean Lafitte, too, heem—she'll be my partner on the 'strimp, an' she'll was come hon the light, here, heem, tomorrow, yass, heem."

"And would you give the letters to Mr. Richard Barriere tomorrow?" I inquired of the lighthouse keeper.

"Ouil, ouil. Certain. Assurement. Wit' plaisir, monsieur," he replied. So I handed him the little packet.

It chanced that my eye caught sight of one of the two letters Mrs. Danvers had handed me. The address was in Mrs. Danvers' handwriting, but one that I knew very well. And the letter, in this handwriting that I knew very well, was addressed to Calvin Horace Davidson, Esq., the Boston club, New Orleans, La.—all written out in full in Helena's own scrupulous fashion.

I gave the letter over to the messenger, but for a time I stood silent, thinking. I knew now very well what that letter contained. But yesterday Helena Emory had finally decided, there on the beach, alone with me, the salt air on her cheek, the salt tears in her eyes. She had gone far as woman might to tell me that she was grieved over a hasty word—she had given me a chance, my first chance, my only chance, my last chance. And I, pig headed fool, had slighted her at the very moment of moments of all my life—I who had prided myself on my "psychology"—I who had thought myself wise—I had allowed that woman to go away with her head drooping when at last she—oh, I saw it all plainly enough now! She had not yet given that man his answer, but when I chided her, rejected her timid little desire to "make up" with me, why, then, her mind was made up for that other man at once. She had written his answer. And now—oh, fiendlike cruelty of woman's heart!—she had chosen me as her messenger to carry out that word which would cost me herself forever.

We found our party all assembled, John having but now issued his luncheon call, and, such had proved this swift spell of this care free life, none expressed much delight at the announcement of my decision to strike camp and move toward civilization.

"Why, now," protested L'Olonnois, his lip quivering, "of course, we don't want to go home. Ain't our desert island all right? Where you going to find any better place 'n this, like to know? Besides"—and here he drew me to one side—"they's a good reason for not going just yet, Black Bart!"

"What, Jimmy?" I inquired.

"Well, I know something."

"And what is it?"

"Well, Jean Lafitte knows it too."

"What is it then?"

"Well, it ain't happened yet, but it's going to, or anyhow maybe."

"You interest me. Is it a matter of importance?"

"Say it was!"

"To whom?"

"Why, to you, and, besides, to my Auntie Helena. And you can't pull off things like that just anywhere. Jean Lafitte and me, we frame up how to handle you heartless jade, the fair captive, and here you butt in and spoil the whole works. It ain't right."

I bethought me now of the conversation I had unwittingly overheard, and my heart was grateful to these my friends, but the next instant I remembered the note to Cal Davidson.

"I thank you, Jimmy, my friend," said I, "and I believe I know what you mean, but it can't be done."

Resinol

makes itching eczema vanish

There is immediate relief for skins itching, burning and disfigured by eczema, ringworm, or similar tormenting skin disease, in a warm bath with Resinol Soap, and a simple application of Resinol Ointment. The soothing, healing Resinol balsams sink right into the skin, stop itching instantly, and soon clear away all trace of eruption, even in severe and stubborn cases.

Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap are sold by all druggists. Prescribed by doctors for 20 years.

"What can't, and why can't it?"

"Why, the—the frame that you have just mentioned. In short—but, Jimmy, go on and roll up the blankets."

"But why can't it, and what do you know about it? Tell me," he demanded, with sudden inspiration, "is you varlet a snorter, too, for you heartless jade?"

"I decline to answer, Jimmy. Don't let's get into too deep water. Go on and get your bundles ready."

"You're a fine pirate, ain't you, Black Bart?"

"Desprit men when you let yourself be bluffed by you varlet, and him a thousand miles away? You try me, just you gimme a desert island or even a pirate ship, a week, like the chance you got, and beshrew me, but any heartless jade would be mine!"

"Oh, maybe not, Jimmy."

"Or else she'd walk the plank."

"There isn't any plank to walk here, Jimmy," said I, pointing to our boat, which lay in the shoals far out. "I rather wish there were."

"You'll have to carry my Auntie Helen out on yore strong right arm, Black Bart."

"I'll do nothing of the sort, Jimmy."

"Don't you like her no more? And if you don't, what're we here for?"

Stomach Troubles Due to Acidity

SO SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, wind, and stomach-ache are probably the cases out of ten simply because that fermentation is taking place in the food contents of the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acids. Wind distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the fermenting food. Such fermentation is unnatural, but may involve most serious consequences if not corrected. To stop or prevent fermentation of the food contents of the stomach, and to neutralize the acid, and render it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of Malted Magnesia, probably the best and most effective corrector of acid stomach known, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water immediately after eating, or whenever wind or acid is felt. This stops the fermentation, and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments. Fermentation, wind and acids are dangerous and unnecessary. Stop or prevent them by the use of a proper antacid, such as Malted Magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist and thus enable the stomach to do its work properly without being hindered by poisonous gas and dangerous acids.—M. What Gives Milk Its Color?

Recent experiments show that the color of milk is chiefly due to the presence of carotin, a coloring matter found abundantly in green plants, especially in grass. The yellow pigments of our bodies also consist of carotin, which is probably derived chiefly from our food.

Dinner Stories

Sergeant Sharp was as regimental as it was possible for a man to be.

"Shun!" he cried to his squad. "Quick march! Left wheel! Halt! Take Murphy's name for talking in the ranks."

"But he wasn't talking," protested a corporal who was standing near. "Wasn't he?" roared Sgt. Sharp. "Don't matter, then. Cross it out and put him in the guardroom for deceiving me."

It was a club dinner, and Mrs. Anderson, a social leader, was seated next to Mrs. Murgidge, a society woman of prominence. Visiting to engage in conversation with the social leader, Mrs. Anderson remarked:

"I understand that you have a son who is studying music, Mrs. Murgidge."

"Yes, my son is a great musician," replied the social leader, rather coldly. "He is now studying in the Paris Conservatory."

"Really? How nice!" replied the social aspirant. "It must be so pleasant to be able to sit among flowers all day and not disturb any one with the practicing."

"This, then, Miss Fickel," said the young man, as he started for the door, "is your final decision?"

"It is," Mr. Smithers," said the young girl firmly.

"Then," he continued, his voice betraying an unnatural calmness, "there is but one thing more to add."

"What is that?" she asked, looking absently with the lobe of her shell-like ear.

"It is this," he muttered. "Shall I return those black satin suspender by mail or will you have them now?"

Diminutives.
The man who is "below five feet in height" may well be reckoned as being among the "diminutives." The average height is around five feet six inches. A man is "tall" when he is six feet or over. Under-five feet five he is "short."

An Easy Way to Increase Weight

Good Advice For Thin Folks.

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on "drugging" their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

Thanks to a remarkable new scientific discovery, it is now possible to combine into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This master-stroke of modern chemistry is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims through its regenerative, re-constructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every starved, broken-down cell and tissue of your body. You can readily picture the result when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and just disappear and you take on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. All leading druggists of Janesville and vicinity have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

Caution—While Sargol has given excellent results in overcoming various dyspepsia and general stomach troubles it should not be taken by those who do not wish to gain ten pounds or more. Advertisement

SHORT COURSE WILL BE CONDUCTED THIS MONTH IN COUNTY

Introduction of Farmers' Course Will be Made at Milton College,
Commencing the 22nd.

In previous winters many of the citizens of Rock County at a considerable expense to themselves have gone to Madison to avail themselves of the privileges of the Farmers' Short Course in Agriculture. This year on the 22 and 24 of March the Farmers' Short Course is coming to Rock County. The very same speakers that we would hear if we went to the Madison Short Course will speak at Milton College on subjects of vital importance to the farmers and home makers. Dr. A. S. Alexander, the Scotch enthusiast on horses is on the program for two illustrated lectures, "Horse Breeding in Wisconsin" and "Our Servants, the Dumb Animals." The Animal Husbandry department of the College of Agriculture will be represented by its head, Prof. C. C. Humphrey, who will talk on the subjects "Care and Management of the Dairy Cattle," "Feeding the Dairy Cow," and "The Profitable 'Porker'." Mr. Humphrey will have charge of the Boys Dairy Cow Judging Contest and Prof. Fuller of the Horse Judging Contest. The contests of judging demonstrations sent from teams from the agricultural departments of the high schools of the county and teams from the county Y. M. C. A. groups.

The head of the Soils department, Prof. A. R. Johnson, will speak on the subject "Some Farming on Soils." Mr. Johnson will also speak on weeds, seeds and alfalfa. Dr. J. C. Beckwith on corn and Mr. W. W. Luning on alfalfa. E. L. Luther, a county advisor of a northern county, will give his illustrated lecture, "The Work of the County Representative." The Home Economics Department of the University will be represented by Mrs. Nellie Kedzie Jones, (Mrs.) Dr. Mendenhall and Miss Anna Pfund. All of these talks, lectures, demonstrations, sent from teams from the agricultural departments of the county for three days for the benefit of farmers home makers and those interested in agricultural problems in Rock County.

CENSUS WILL NOT BE MADE BY THE STATE

For First Time Since 1855 Wisconsin Will Pass up Count of Inhabitants.

This year, for the first time since 1855, no state census will be taken in Wisconsin.

Beginning half a century ago, every ten years, the state, under the direction of the secretary of state, has made an enumeration of the inhabitants of Wisconsin and assembled other facts in regard to farm acreage, dairying and militia strength. On this census every ten years a reapportionment of the legislative districts were made by constitutional provision.

In 1905 and again in 1907 the people of the state and the legislature gave indorsement to a measure amending the constitution by which article 4 of the section providing for the state census and the redistricting of the state was annulled. This is the first census year under the new constitutional provision in which no census will be taken.

The state census was abolished for the reason that the reapportionment based thereon could be in effect only during two elections, because of biennial sessions of the legislature, the federal census taken every ten years, also necessitating a complete rearrangement of the congressional assembly and senatorial districts.

The flexibility of the Company's policy forms in meeting the needs of Family, Business or Estate, the convenience with which they can be adapted to changing conditions, and the conservatism and care exercised in the investment of funds and selection of risks, have made the Northwestern popular with careful buyers of insurance. Nearly twelve thousand of its old members increased their insurance with the Company last year. Organized in the State of Wisconsin in 1857, the Northwestern has extended its Insurance Service throughout the more healthful parts of the United States until at the present time it ranks fourth in amount of assets and insurance in force, industrial companies excepted. The Northwestern is the largest purely American life insurance company. The above figures are worthy of your careful attention.

HEALTH PROMOTES HAPPINESS

Without health, genuine joy is impossible; without good digestion and regular bowel movement you cannot have health. Why neglect keeping bowels open and risk being sick and ailing? You don't have to. Take one small Dr. King's New Life Pill at night, in the morning you will have a much better. Helps your appetite and digestion. Try one tonight.

Sell your house or any other piece of real estate you may have through the want ad column—the cost is but a trifle.

Can You Beat It?

One million people walked across a Whittall Rug and it isn't worn out.

At Columbus, Ohio, a believer in Whittall Rugs put one on the sidewalk in front of the store. Three hundred ninety thousand people walked across that rug in seven days and only one of those days was pleasant.

After Vacuum Cleaning It Was in Fine Condition

During the Centennial celebration between 600,000 and 700,000 more people walked a cross that same rug—it was still in fine condition. What do you think of that?

You must think that the rug that will withstand such hard usage as that and still be in even fair condition is remarkable. So do we. And that is why we make a specialty of

Whittall Rugs

We believe in them. They are beautiful in color and texture to begin with, and they will outwear all other makes and hold their beauty to the end. Splendid materials, unequalled dyes and workmanship make this possible.
